

The evening's palette was made up of gold, sand, and cream marked by pops of turquoise and pink.

The raised V.I.P. areas comprised cream Ultrasuede banquettes separated by gauzy panels.

Designer Thomas Ford helmed the after-party's decor, working in turquoise-patterned seating that was seen again in the V.I.P. area wall decor.

Potted palm trees accented rows of 24-inch tables that flanked the bars and buffets.
